Dear Colleagues,

We are pleased to invite you to the 19th International Conference on Energy and Climate Change, continuing a long-standing tradition of scientific excellence, critical dialogue, and international collaboration. Over the past nineteen years, the conference has established itself as a trusted platform for researchers, academics, policymakers, and professionals to exchange insights on the evolving challenges of energy transitions, climate governance, low-carbon technologies, and sustainable development pathways.

The upcoming edition will bring together leading scholars and emerging voices to discuss:

- Energy and climate policy design at national, regional, and global levels
- Clean energy technologies and innovation
- Climate mitigation and adaptation strategies
- Sustainability transitions and socio-economic impacts

The conference places strong emphasis on high-quality peer-reviewed research, interdisciplinary perspectives, and meaningful interaction among participants from diverse backgrounds and regions.

We warmly encourage you to contribute your work, engage in stimulating discussions, and be part of a global scientific community shaping the future of energy and climate action.

The 19th International Conference on Energy and Climate Change is structured over five thematic days, combining policy dialogue, scientific exchange, and stakeholder engagement, with participation from international organizations, academic institutions, and research networks.

Further details regarding dates, venue, keynote speakers, and submission guidelines are available on the conference website at this link 19th International Conference on "Energy and Climate Change"

We look forward to welcoming you to the 19th edition of the conference.

Kind regards,

The Organizing Committee
